The nation's oldest and largest family-owned sports and apparel retailer, Modell's Sporting Goods opened its first ever "Team Store" in MCI Center. This new concept store features a complete line of Wizards, Capitals and Mystics merchandise plus apparel from teams across the country. Founded in 1889, Modell's operates more than 70 stores, including seven locally, with more expansion planned, offering a full line of athletic equipment, shoes and apparel.

Wizards Identity

After 36 seasons of professional basketball, Washington's NBA franchise introduced new logos and colors to accommodate the change of the team's nickname, as the team tipped off the 1997-98 season as the Washington Wizards. The new Wizards logos, created by the National Basketball Association, in collaboration with Nike, contain three vibrant colors: blue, black and bronze. The color blend represents the explosive energy that the basketball club brings to life and are synonymous with the colors that are prevalent in the logos of the Washington Capitals and Washington Mystics Abe Pollin's other professional franchises.

"We wanted the NBA to design something sleek and progressive, showing action while giving the logo a classic look," said Chairman of Washington Sports and Entertainment Abe Pollin. "We feel this logo does all of these things and we are very proud of our new look."

The team's primary logo features a wizard leaping outstretched past the moon while holding a "burst of magic" in his right hand and spinning a basketball in his left hand. The Wizard, with a "W" emblazoned on his chest, is classic and precise. The "burst of magic" symbolizes the strength of the franchise and the spinning of the ball represents the team's talent. The moon takes on the appearance of a basketball and stands for the heights to which the franchise hopes to rise.

WIZARDS

The secondary logo uses a modern, aggressive font to create the letters "dc." It places emphasis on the team's new home, at MCI Center, in the nation's capital. The Wizards wordmarks further illustrate the aura of energy and power with their bold, custom font. Through a licensing agreement with the NBA, Nike has obtained the right to produce authentic uniforms and courtside apparel for the Wizards, while Champion will create replica jerseys for the Wizards. All Wizards merchandise is available at Modell's Sporting Goods, the Wizards apparel headquarters, and through EPM Marketing at 1-888-598-4759.

The name change marks the third time in franchise history that the team has altered its nickname. After being created as the Chicago Packers in 1961, the club became the Chicago Zephyrs a year later. In 1963, Abe Pollin headed a group of investors which purchased the organization, moved the team to Baltimore and named the club the Baltimore Bullets.

The name depicts energy and an omnipresent power and brings to light the wise and magical nature of the team. It serves as a positive image for both the players and the organization.

"As I have said many times before, this was not an easy decision for me," added Pollin. "The Bullets have been a part of me for many years. But I no longer wanted my team associated with anything with a violent connotation. That's why we changed the name."

Pollin announced his intentions to re-name his basketball club on November 9, 1995 as part of an anti-violence movement. Through promotional partners Boston Market and NBC4, fans were able to vote on their favorite new nickname, and on February 22, 1996, Pollin announced that Wizards would be the club's new moniker. In addition to the new name, logos and colors, the team established a conflict resolution program with a focus on peer mediation and conflict resolution among high-risk teens in the Washington and Baltimore metropolitan areas.

ABE POLLIN

RESIDENCE:
Bethesda, MD

BIRTHDATE:
December 3, 1923

BIRTHPLACE:
Philadelphia, PA

PURCHASED THE TEAM:
October 24, 1964

BECAME TEAM'S SOLE OWNER:
July 23, 1968

In 1973 when Abe Pollin moved his NBA franchise to Washington and applied for an NHL franchise, it was his dream that both teams play in a new facility in downtown Washington, DC. At that time, the right opportunities did not present themselves for both the District and Pollin, so as history would have it, Pollin opened the state-of-the-art Capital Centre (now known as US Airways Arena) in Landover, Maryland. US Airways Arena prospered, offering the best accommodations of any sports facility at that time. The facility was completed in a record 15 months and included a host of unique features, including the first ever luxury seating situated above the arena floor and a Telescreen.

Despite success in Landover, Pollin never lost sight of moving his organization into downtown Washington. After twenty-four years of waiting for the "right opportunity," Pollin's dream has come true. The Wizards have appeared, MCI Center has evolved and Pollin could not be happier. MCI Center is a multi-million dollar sports and entertainment complex that brought the Washington Wizards, Capitals and WNBA Mystics to the heart of downtown Washington, DC. Noted as being the most technologically advanced facility in the world, the entertainment complex houses the MCI National Sports Gallery, Discovery Channel Destination DC, The Modell's Team Store, Velocity Grill, and hosts an array of sporting and entertainment functions.

"Washington has been good to me and I have faith in the future of this city and am in a unique position to help bring positive changes to this area," said Pollin. "I am confident that MCI Center will become the anchor to a revitalized downtown area."

There are a lot of astute businessmen in the sports industry, but what distinguishes Abe Pollin from the other genre of sports entrepreneurs is his commitment to social responsibility. He possess a passionate need to give back to the community which has made helping people in need a way of life. His philanthropic and humanitarian endeavors know no bias or boundaries, which is evident by the numerous public service and community organizations that he devotes his time to.

Pollin serves as the Chairman of the Advisory Council for UNICEF, is Honorary Chairman of the Salvation Army's Leadership Committee for Centers of Hope, and Co-Chair of the Community Capital Campaign for N Street Village in Washington, DC. Pollin is also the co-sponsor in the "I Have a Dream Foundation" and personally guaranteed college education for 55 students. Pollin also serves as President of the Advisory Board for the American Foundation for Autistic Children and was instrumental in the construction of the Specialized Living and Learning Center in Olney, Maryland. His most recent community outreach program, "Abe's Table", is a weekly meal program hosted at Calvary Baptist Church, located one block from MCI Center. "Abe's Table" has served hot meals to the hungry every week since December 15, 1997.

> "We are put on this earth to do more than just take care of ourselves...It is crucial that we give back to the community more than we take out." — Abe Pollin

One of the biggest community efforts that Pollin is associated with is his self-initiated Anti-Violence Campaign. The on-going project which is supported by members of both the Wizards and Capitals, provides conflict resolution programs, educational programs and scholarship opportunities to area students. Perhaps the biggest anti-violence initiative was Pollin's decision to change the nickname of his NBA franchise from the Bullets to the Wizards. The team commenced operations under the new name Washington Wizards on May 15, 1997.

Not surprisingly, recognition of Pollin's remarkable record and accomplishments are just as impressive as the deeds they acknowledge. This has been a landmark two years for Pollin, as he has received numerous awards and accolades recognizing his accomplishments in professional sports and contributions to community service. Within the last two years, Pollin was the recipient of the Distinguished Civilian Service Award, presented by the U.S. Army, the 1996 Robert F. Kennedy-Martin Luther King, Jr. Award, presented by the Coalition to Stop Gun Violence, the 1996 United Cerebral Palsy Achievement Award, and the 1997 Jewish Leadership Award.

As the longest tenured owner in the National Basketball Association, Pollin has been at the center of every major issue in the NBA, including the salary cap, and the expansion and the reform of the league's marketing efforts. In the process, he has become one of the most experienced and respected individuals in the world of professional sports.

As Chairman of Washington Sports and Entertainment Limited Partnership (WSELP), Pollin not only oversees the operations of the Wizards, Capitals and Mystics, but also Centre Management and TicketMaster Washington/Baltimore. Centre Management is a full-service organization whose responsibilities include management of MCI Center, US Airways Arena, Baltimore Arena, the Patriot Center of George Mason University in Fairfax, Virginia, Marine Midland Arena in Buffalo, New York, and Cleveland Convocation Center.

A Washingtonian for the majority of his life, Pollin arrived with his family from his hometown of Philadelphia at the age of eight. After graduating from George Washington University in 1945, Pollin worked for his family's construction company until 1957 when he launched his own construction company. As a local contractor, Pollin constructed several large apartment houses and office buildings, including a building with the first ever roof-top pool.

In 1964, Pollin and two partners purchased the NBA's Baltimore Bullets for a then-record $1.1 million. Four years later, he became the team's sole owner. In 1972, Pollin expanded his empire by beating 12 qualified applicants and securing an NHL franchise that began play two years later as the Washington Capitals.

Quick to admit that we are put on earth to do much more than just take care of ourselves, Pollin is a man whose vision is matched only by his willingness to help improve the quality of life in this community and around the world. After thirty-four years in the business, Pollin continues to bring innovation to the industry, Pollin continues displaying his personal trademarks of accomplishing the "impossible" and being the first to bring the best to sports.

Pollin lives in Bethesda, MD with his wife, Irene, a psychotherapist. They are avid travelers, and Pollin also enjoys playing tennis. Their elder son, Robert, is an economics professor at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst and resides with his wife in Amherst, MA with their two daughters. Abe and Irene's youngest son, James, owns Leviathan Meeting Innovations in Landover, MD.

Susan O'Malley

RESIDENCE:
Alexandria, VA

BIRTHDATE:
November 7, 1961

BIRTHPLACE:
Washington, DC

STARTED WITH TEAM:
August 1, 1986

NAMED TEAM PRESIDENT:
May 9, 1991

One of the most powerful women in the world of professional sports, Susan O'Malley has seven years of experience as president of Washington Sports & Entertainment behind her. In her time at the helm, WS&E has expanded to include not only the NBA Wizards, NHL Capitals and WNBA Mystics, but a new downtown arena. In October, she was honored as one of the top female sports executives by Sports Business Journal.

"We are playing in a state-of-the-art facility with three promising teams and I want to ensure that we bring the most exciting entertainment to the fans because they definitely deserve it," said O'Malley.

Once an intern with the Bullets and Caps, O'Malley was promoted from Director of Advertising to Executive Vice President of the Bullets in 1988. This gave her control over the team's marketing, sponsorship, ticket sales, advertising, accounting, communications and community relations departments.

Her trademark of "pro-active" customer service resurrected the same organization who ranked last to its counterparts in nearly every category when O'Malley took over the organization. O'Malley began heading operations at a time when the relationship between the front office staff and season ticket holders was virtually non-existent. "They complained that they never heard from us until their invoices were due," said O'Malley.

As a result of the ticket holders concern, O'Malley quickly initiated communication to ensure that their voices were heard. Since, the energetic O'Malley has created numerous ideas to form positive relationships with ticket holders, corporate sponsors and the media.

In addition to delivering superb customer service to ticket holders, she works diligently with her staff to create the best game night promotions and operations to keep the fans coming back. O'Malley has incorporated a tough and rigid marketing philosophy that provides profitable results, but at the same time, generates excitement and visibility to the teams.

In her first season handling off-court activities, the team experienced the largest ticket revenue year in the history of the franchise. In addition, that year the club achieved the highest renewal rate of season tickets ever by the franchise, including the year following the 1977-78 Championship season. During the 1994-95 campaign, the club sold out a franchise record 30 home games and increased the record for average attendance by nearly 2,000 fans. The club continued to see success in attendance, including last season when over 800,000 people attended Wizards games at MCI Center and US Airways Arena, averaging 19,542 fans per game, the highest average attendance in franchise history.

In addition to creating marketing and promotion strategies, O'Malley has also ensured that the Wizards are visible in the media as well. She works closely with the communications staff to ensure that constant and positive images are being portrayed.

"She is brilliant," said Abe Pollin, Chairman of Washington Sports and Entertainment. "Susan is full of innovative ideas and she works very hard. She sets an example for her staff because she is very, very tough, but very fair."

President

During the 1997-98 season, Pollin reorganized the combined operations of his professional teams, MCI Center, Centre Management and Centre Group into one company, Washington Sports & Entertainment. Pollin then tabbed O'Malley as President of Washington Sports and Entertainment. In her role, O'Malley oversees all business operations for the NBA's Washington Wizards, NHL's Washington Capitals and WNBA's Washington Mystics, MCI Center Operations, Entertainment & New Business Development, Finance, Human Resources/Payroll Services, Marketing, Team Operations and TicketMaster.

A master motivator by nature, O'Malley creates competitive, yet fun contests to stimulate her staff and keep the work environment amusing. Wes Unseld

BIRTHDATE:
March 14, 1946

BIRTHPLACE:
Louisville, KY

DRAFTED:
First Round (2nd overall) in 1968 by Baltimore

RETIRED AS A PLAYER:
March 29, 1981

INDUCTED INTO HALL OF FAME:
May 3, 1988

HIRED AS GM:
May 1, 1996

From All-Star player to coach, from Hall of Famer to General Manager, Wes Unseld has done it. For three decades, Unseld has made positive contributions to almost every facet of Abe Pollin's NBA franchise. His Hall of Fame play led the franchise to their only NBA title in 1978, he motivated the team from the bench as the team's head coach for seven seasons, and assisted in the planning and development of MCI Center, the new home of the Wizards, NHL's Washington Capitals and WNBA's Washington Mystics. Most recently, Unseld has been charged with the responsibility of building a basketball team capable of bringing a world championship back to the nation's capital.

On May 1, 1996 Unseld inked a contract to become the team's Executive Vice President and General Manager. Unseld wasted no time upgrading this team with key acquisitions. On July 15, 1996, Unseld obtained Rod Strickland, one of the NBA's top point guards from the Portland Trail Blazers. From the free agency frenzy, Unseld re-signed All-Star forward Juwan Howard, backup point guard Chris Whitney and inked sharpshooting forward Tracy Murray. His creations proved successful as the team's new acquisitions helped secure post-season play for the first time in nine years. This off-season, he acquired All-Stars Mitch Richmond and Otis Thorpe in a trade with Sacramento.

"Wes has been a great asset to this organization since the day he played his first game," said Washington Sports and Entertainment Chairman, Abe Pollin. "Many times through the history of this franchise, I have turned to Wes to lead the way. As we enter a very exciting and important time in the team's development, I can think of no other candidate more appropriate to take us into the future than Wes Unseld. Wes has never let me down in anything he's ever done."

As Executive Vice President of Washington Sports and Entertainment for the past three years, Unseld managed the sponsorship, communications, community relations, and game operations for the Wizards, Capitals and Mystics. He also headed the research and planning of MCI Center.

After Unseld's stellar career came to a close in 1981, Pollin recognized the importance of keeping his dedicated, hard-working star in the organization. Unseld was immediately hired by Pollin to serve as a front office executive. Pollin felt that Unseld's winning ways would be a positive force in the day-to-day operation of the organization.

As vice president, Unseld devoted a great deal of time towards making special appearances. He became one of the NBA's most popular and prolific speakers. In addition, he worked as an analyst for local television telecasts and was directly involved in sponsorships and community projects.

Prior to the 1987-88 season, Head Coach Kevin Loughery saw Unseld as a great motivator and invited Unseld to extend his basketball knowledge to the team as an assistant coach. Just 27 games into the season, with the team struggling at 8-19, Pollin released Loughery of his coaching duties and selected Unseld to replace him. The team responded dramatically to Unseld's leadership as head coach, compiling a 30-25 record during the remainder of the regular season, and bringing Washington into the playoffs. Unseld went on to complete six more seasons as Washington's head coach.

Exec. VP and General Manager

The 6-foot-7 Unseld, who was best known as a player for his bone-jarring picks and full-court outlet passes earned two All-America honors while playing at the University of Louisville. In 1968, he was chosen by Baltimore with the second selection in the first round of the NBA Draft.

"Many times through the history of this franchise, I have turned to Wes to lead the way. As we enter a very exciting and important time, I can think of no other candidate more appropriate to take this team into the future than Wes Unseld. Wes has never let me down in anything he's ever done." —Abe Pollin

Adapting to the rigors of the NBA came without difficulty for Unseld. Success came immediately, as Unseld's first NBA season graced him with not only Rookie-of-the Year honors, but the League's Most Valuable Player award as well. Only Wilt Chamberlain has been able to win both awards in the same season. Unseld was also selected to play in the NBA All-Star game that season, his first of five appearances.

Unseld also helped turn around the fortunes of the team as well. The Bullets improved 21 games in his rookie campaign. During the Unseld era, the franchise compiled a .580 winning percentage, compared with a .364 percentage prior to his days as a player. He was perhaps the greatest force in sending the Bullets to 12 consecutive playoff appearances, highlighted by the 1978 World Championship.

In the process, Unseld achieved numerous milestones and accomplishments. In the NBA record books, he retired seventh all-time in rebounding; is one of 24 players, entering the 1998-99 season, who have both scored 10,000 points and pulled down 10,000 rebounds; and is the franchises all-time leader in games played, minutes, assists and rebounds. On May 3, 1988, he was inducted into the Basketball Hall of Fame in his first year of eligibility. In 1996, Unseld was named as one of the 50 greatest players in NBA history.

Unseld's achievements on the court are not all that he has given to the public. He and his wife Connie opened up a school in Baltimore that provides an excellent education to Baltimore youngsters. Connie, a school teacher during the 1970s, was frustrated with the education that children were receiving, and wanted to do all that she could to help remedy the situation.

The dream of the Unseld School became reality and has been an important part of the community ever since. The Unseld School, celebrating its 20th year of scholastic excellence, serves 200 students from pre-school through eighth grade with a student-teacher ratio of 10:1.

Unseld has a slew of other notable achievements. In 1975, he was the first recipient of the Walter Kennedy Citizenship Award, which is given annually to the NBA player or coach making the greatest contribution to his community. Unseld also served as Vice President of the NBA Players Association. He continues to volunteer countless hours towards community projects and runs the annual Wes Unseld Fantasy Camp at MCI Center.

Wes and Connie have two children, Kimberly and Westley, and reside in Westminster, MD.

Bernie Bickerstaff

RESIDENCE:
Washington, DC

BIRTHDATE:
November 2, 1943

BIRTHPLACE:
Benham, KY

HIRED AS HEAD COACH:
February 10, 1997

On February 10, 1997, Bernie Bickerstaff became the 14th head coach in team history. At the time, Owner Abe Pollin and General Manager Wes Unseld were seeking someone with the ability to handle talented players and get them to perform at their highest level. In Bernie Bickerstaff, they found just that.

"I think we have a team, the players and the potential to win the championship," said Owner Abe Pollin. "I believe that it will happen and I believe Bernie's the right guy to bring us there."

Bickerstaff was hired as Washington's head coach midway through the 1996-97 NBA season and was charged with turning around an underachieving, young squad. The Kentucky native immediately established himself in the Washington locker room and gained the respect and admiration of his players. Washington, which had a 22-25 record when Bickerstaff took the reigns, rebounded to post a 22-13 mark (.629) to finish the season. The team won 16 of 21 games down the stretch and vaulted into the 1997 NBA Playoffs, defeating the Cavaliers in Cleveland on the last day of the season. Last season, he led the Wizards to a 42-40 record, winning his 300th regular season game (1/4/98). With 325 wins, Bickerstaff is the 36th winningest coach in NBA history.

Bickerstaff stepped down as general manager of the Denver Nuggets in order to return to Washington, where he served as an assistant coach from 1973-85.

"I'm very fortunate to be back with the organization that gave me my start, and I'm excited about getting things done here," said Bickerstaff.

Bickerstaff was named senior executive vice president of the Nuggets in 1990 and later assumed head coaching duties for the organization in 1995. In 32 games of the 1994-95 season, Bickerstaff led the team to a 20-12 record and a trip to the first round of the NBA Playoffs.

The following year, despite being hampered by injuries, the Nuggets posted wins over all four conference finalists. In an effort to build a stronger talent base for the Nuggets, Bickerstaff stepped down as head coach and assumed the duties as the team's general manager.

Bickerstaff's NBA experience also includes five seasons as the Sonics' head coach. He joined Seattle in the 1985-86 season and led the Supersonics to three post-season appearances, including a trip to the 1987 Western Conference Finals. Bickerstaff began his NBA coaching career in Washington in 1973, joining the Bullets as the youngest assistant in the NBA at 29. During his tenure in Washington, Bickerstaff helped the team reach post season play 10 times, the NBA Finals three times, including the 1978 NBA Championship.

Bickerstaff's college coaching career began at his alma mater, the University of San Diego, where he received his degree in 1968 and was a two-year letterman for the Toreros. Following his college playing career, he turned down an offer to play for the Harlem Globetrotters to become an assistant coach at USD. Two years later he became head coach, finishing with a career winning percentage of .530 in four years.

Bickerstaff was named to the USA Basketball Men's Senior Team Committee and is on the NBA's Competition Committee. In 1995, he was inducted into the University of San Diego's Hall of Fame. Other accolades include the prestigious Horace Mann Award for Leadership, awarded in 1987, and the 1987 Sports Person of the Year, presented by the New York Pro-Am Basketball Association.

His hometown of Benham, KY dedicated a street in Bickerstaff's name. This off-season he opened the Jordan Alexander Salon in Columbia, MD. Bickerstaff and his wife Eugenia, who have five children and one grandchild, reside in Washington, DC.

"I'm very fortunate to be back with the organization that gave me my start and I'm excited about getting things done here."

1998-99 WIZARDS PLAYERS

1998-99 Season Preview

by Wes Unseld

We will do everything in our power to return to playoff contention this season. The biggest step we took was acquiring All-Stars Mitch Richmond and Otis Thorpe from Sacramento on May 14. Abe Pollin told me emphatically that he will not be satisfied until we win another NBA Championship. I will not be satisfied either.

Head Coach Bernie Bickerstaff did lead the Wizards to back-to-back winning seasons for the first time since 1981-82 and 1982-83. Bickerstaff begins his 26th NBA campaign with the same enthusiasm he had when he started as an assistant coach with Washington in 1973. I believe Bernie is the man to help us take the necessary steps to achieving our dream.

The day I traded for Mitch Richmond, I told the media I've wanted him since the day I took over as General Manger. The fans in the East have no idea how good a player we will see in DC this season. Richmond is one of four players in NBA history to average more than 21 points in each of his first 10 seasons, joining Oscar Robertson, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Michael Jordan. A six-time All-Star, Mitch is strong, durable, one of the top defenders in the league and is one of the top community oriented people in professional sports today.

The other player we acquired in the Chris Webber trade is Otis Thorpe, another under-appreciated talent. Entering his 15th NBA season, Thorpe is just 275 rebounds away from joining the 15,000 point-10,000 rebound club. Only 14 players in league history have accomplished that feat. We expect him to provide strength on the boards and wisdom in the locker room.

The trade also allowed us to move Juwan Howard back to his natural position, power forward. When Howard last played the position (1995-96), he set career-highs in points (22.1) and rebounds (8.1). That season he was named to the All-NBA Third Team, captured a NBA Player of the Month honor, several Player of the Week awards and played in the annual All-Star Game. One of the top young talents in the game, we fully expect Juwan to put up big numbers on a consistent basis.

With Mitch Richmond manning the shooting guard position, we have moved Calbert Cheaney to small forward. Cheaney is a unique player with the ability to adjust his game to fit the team's needs. Calbert can defend as well as create scoring opportunities for himself.

Our sixth man is sharp shooting forward Tracy Murray, a high energy player off the bench with unlimited range. To tell you what kind of scorer he is, Murray pumped in a career-high 50 points in a victory at Golden State last February. He loves MCI Center, posting double figures in 34 of 36 games in the new building, averaging 17.1 points per game.

We'll have several players manning the middle, including Terry Davis, who we re-signed during the off-season. Terry started 66 games for us a year ago, adding toughness, taking 30 charges and a presence on the boards. TD came into camp stronger and we expect him to play valuable minutes again this season.

Rounding the players signed entering training camp are point guard Chris Whitney, power forward Ben Wallace, shooting guard Tim Legler and center Lorenzo Williams. Each has produced during their NBA careers and are battling for spots in the rotation this season. God Shammgod also returns for his second season as a backup point guard.

With the 43rd pick in the 1998 NBA Draft, we selected Georgetown center Jahidi White. A two-year starter at one of America's top programs, White is a wide body who plays a physical game.

With this team's maturing talent, we are looking to return to the playoffs, in hopes of taking this team to the next level.

Wizards in the Community

OUR HOUSE. OUR RULES.
1998-99 begins the Wizards fourth season of the "Our House. Our Rules" initiative. Posters, with a new series of peaceable classroom suggestions, are distributed to area schools and a new PSA featuring Calbert Cheaney and a "respecting differences" message is available for interested parties. The team is continuing to sponsor the "Time-out From Violence" speech contest as a forum for area junior high and middle school students to share their opinions on violence in their community and offer suggestions for solving problems.

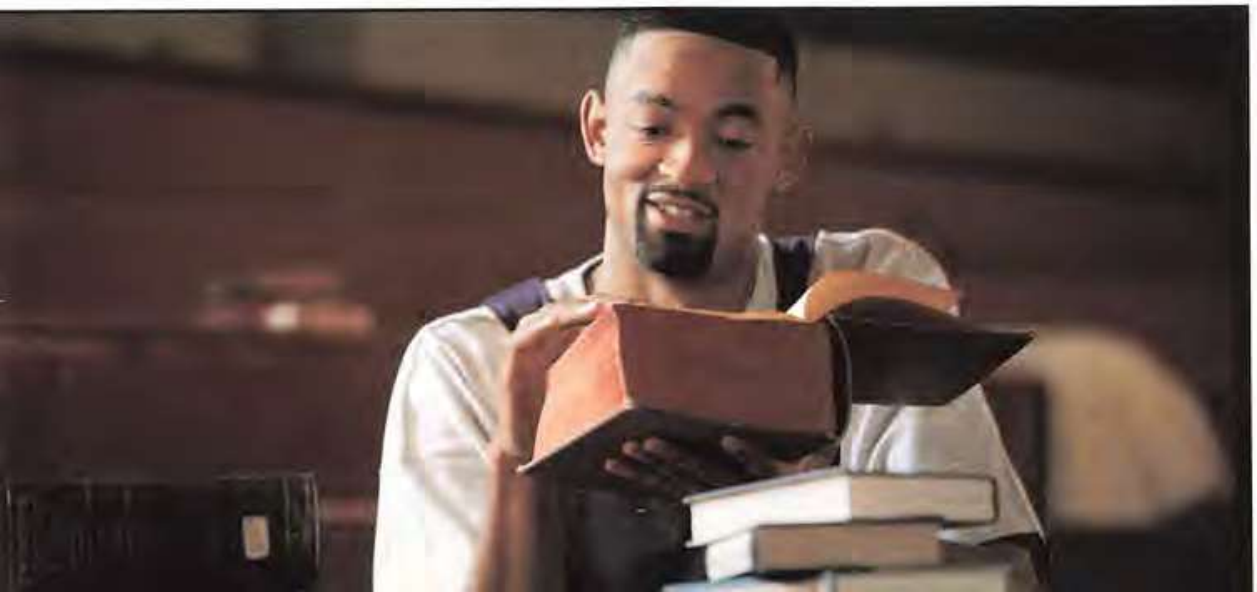
EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMS
Once again, the Wizards and Washington Mystics are administering the PICK & ROLL reading incentive program throughout Washington metropolitan area elementary schools. The program targets fourth, fifth and sixth grade students. Juwan Howard serves as the spokesman of the program. Participating students are required to read eight (8) books between December and February. A prize is awarded to each student who completes the requirements. Approximately 35,000 students in more than 350 elementary schools participated in last year's program, while more than 6,000 students completed the requirements. Each participating classroom receives a poster and textbook package. The school with the highest percentage of students completing the program receives a visit from a Wizards player in order to read a story.

The Wizards summer reading incentive program, HOOPSMARKS, targets "Young Adults" (children ages 10-14). Materials for the program are available throughout local public library systems. Children reading 12 books during the summer are awarded a pair of tickets to a Wizards game.

The Wizards serve as Honorary Chairs of the 24 CHALLENGE Math program, a math skills game for over 150,000 metro area children in grades 4-8, this season.

TEAM-UP CHALLENGE
The Wizards are sponsoring a "community improvement" contest for Washington area junior highs, middle and high schools. Schools are invited to submit a community service project proposal to the Wizards. The schools then create and implement the proposed project. The winning school receives a block of tickets to a game at MCI Center, a pre-game reception and an award, presented at halftime.

ABE'S TABLE
The 1999 Abe's Table event is scheduled to be held in March at MCI Center. The Wizards will be in attendance to serve a meal to the homeless community in Washington DC. Additionally, Mr. Pollin, Deer Park Spring Water and Modell Sporting Goods will be funding a lunch program every Tuesday and Friday at Calvary Baptist Church, located near MCI Center.



ADOPT-A-SCHOOL
The Wizards are continuing a partnership with Shaw Junior High School. The team donated computers to begin the 1998-99 school year. In addition, the Wizards participate in the school's tutoring program and hosts a "study hall" once a week for Shaw students.

NIKE/JR. WIZARDS BASKETBALL LEAGUE
The Wizards and the D.C. Department of Recreation and Parks organize, recruit and oversee a basketball league for children between the ages of six and twelve. Approximately 5,000 kids participate in the program each year. Regular season games are held at recreation facilities in the city from December through March. Championship games are played at the Wizards practice court at MCI Center. Wizards assistant coach Mike Brown conducts a clinic in each of the five city regions during league play.

BLACK HISTORY MONTH
The Wizards co-host an art contest for Junior High School students in Washington, DC in honor of Black History Month. The winners' works are displayed at the MCI Center during a game in February and will be recognized at halftime. The Wizards, also, continue to broadcast vignettes, in which players highlight important figures in black history, throughout the month of February.

NBA Community Relations

The NBA, its teams and its players demonstrate their concern for important social issues by supporting causes that help people achieve an improved quality of life. Placing special emphasis on serving needs and recognizing the accomplishments of young people, the NBA's community outreach initiatives include:

The NBA TeamUp Program

NBA TeamUP is a league-wide youth initiative that encourages volunteerism among students in the middle and high schools across the United States and Canada. Now in its third year, the program has engaged more than 79,000 young people in community service projects; and has recognized and rewarded more than 40,000 outstanding youth volunteers at events hosted by the NBA and its 29 teams. The league and its players also draw awareness to the importance of volunteerism through a public service campaign and television specials that reach millions of viewers.

The NBA and Reading is Fundamental

Since 1995, the NBA has partnered with RIF, the leading non-profit youth literacy organization in the United States, to promote the fun and fundamentals of reading. Successful programs resulting from this partnership include the league-wide "NBA Reading Month," which encourages reading through incentive programs, read alouds and book distributions; and a series of public service announcements, featuring NBA players.

The NBA/WNBA Sportsmanship Initiative

Implemented in conjunction with the National Federation of State High Schools Associations and the Canadian School Sports Federation, this program fosters on-court sportsmanship in amateur and professional basketball competition. The initiative includes the NBA and WNBA Sportsmanship Awards; a certificate program that rewards high school athletes and coaches who demonstrate sportsmanship; and a public service campaign featuring NBA and WNBA players.

The NBA also supports the efforts of the National Committee to Prevent Child Abuse, the Martin Luther King Jr. Holiday, Black History Month and the Thurgood Marshall Scholarship Fund.

Wizards Dance Team

The Washington Wizards Dance Team is one of the newest and most exciting dance lines in the National Basketball Association. The squad has thrilled fans at games since their inception and have become an integral part of the community relations program. Members make many charitable appearances each season.

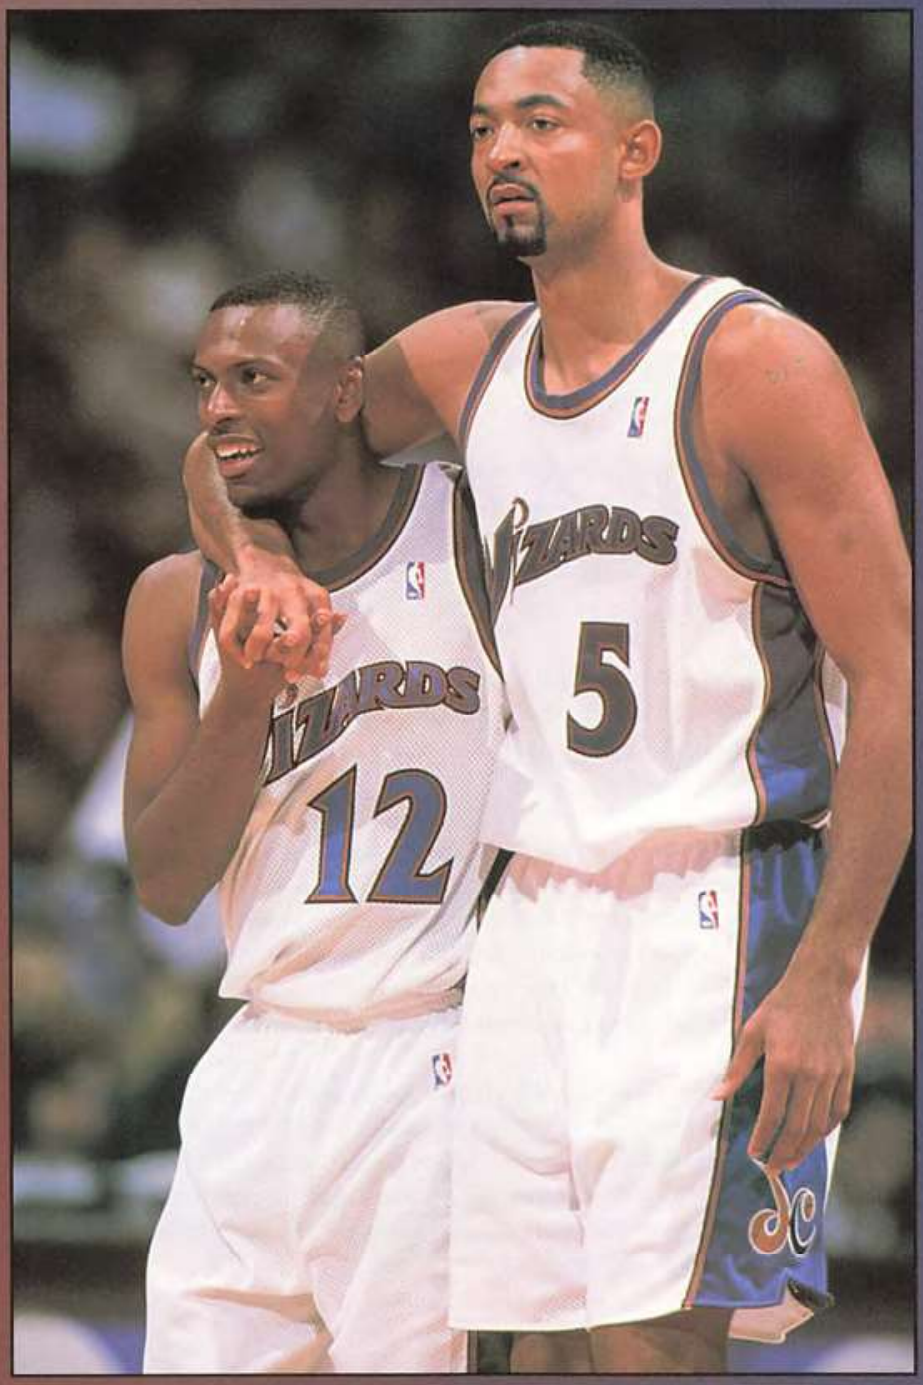
1997-98 Season in Review



1997-98 Team Notes

There's No Place Like (A New) Home: The Wizards won 24 of 36 games, a .667 winning percentage, at MCI Center. Washington won the first eight games at the new building (12/2-12/31), the longest winning streak since January 1988 when the team won eight straight for coach Wes Unseld. The franchise record for consecutive home wins is 22 by the 1974-75 squad. Here is a comparison between MCI Center and Washington's former home US Airways Arena, where the team played their first five home games of the season.

	US Airways	MCI Center
Record	0-5	24-12
PPG	91.2	100.2
FG%	.415 (181/436)	.466 (1,381/2,963)
FT%	.661 (78/118)	.719 (690/960)

How the West Was Won: The Wizards finished the '97-98 season with 18-10 mark against Western Conference teams, defeating all 14 teams: Utah (twice), Minnesota (twice), L.A. Clippers (twice), Golden State (twice), Portland, Seattle, L.A. Lakers, San Antonio, Phoenix, Houston, Sacramento, Vancouver, Dallas and Denver from the Midwest and West Divisions.The Wizards had a 24-30 mark vs. the Eastern Conference and went 12-13 in the Atlantic Divisions. Washington defeated 26 of the 28 opponents this season, beating every team, except Indiana and Atlanta.

In Rod We Trust: Rod Strickland led the league in assists, averaging a franchise and career-best 10.5 per game. It is the third time in team history that a Washington player has led the NBA in assist, Kevin Porter did it twice (1974-75 & 1980-81). Earlier in the season Strickland became the 25th player in NBA history with 10,000 points and 5,000 assists, when he scored his 10,000th point on a jumper vs. Houston (12/27) and dished out his 5,000th assist vs. Denver (11/4).

Terrific Trio: Washington's big three of Chris Webber (21.9 ppg), Juwan Howard (18.5 ppg) and Rod Strickland (17.8 ppg) ranked fourth in the NBA among high scoring trios, averaging 58.2 ppg. The Wizards trio trailed only Chicago (Jordan, Pippen & Kukoc), LA Lakers (O'Neal, Jones & Bryant) and Milwaukee (Robinson, Allen & Brandon).

Super Sub: Washington's Tracy Murray is one of the league's best three-point shooters, hitting a franchise-record 158 FG's from beyond the arc this season. Murray, who finished fifth in the NBA's AT&T Shootout during All-Star Weekend, shot 39.2 % from long range, an improvement of 3.9% from 1996-97. He scored a career high 50 points at Golden State (2/10) and averaged 17.1 at MCI Center, scoring in double figures in 34 of 36 games. Murray led the Washington bench in scoring 56 times and ranks second in franchise history in three-point FG's made with 264 (Michael Adams is the leader with 276).

3,000 & Counting: March 2, 1998 was the 3,000th regular season game for the Wizards franchise, dating back to the 1961-62 season when the Chicago Packers debuted in the NBA. The franchise has also played under the names Chicago Zephyrs, Baltimore Bullets, Capital Bullets and Washington Bullets, compiling a record of 1,420-1,603 (.470). The franchise has also played 166 playoff games with a record of 69-97, which includes the 1977-78 NBA World Championship and three other Finals appearances ('70-71, '74-75 & '78-79).

Off The Court Activities:

The New Name: Washington completed their first season as the newly named Washington Wizards. Last season Abe Pollin, Chairman of Washington Sports and Entertainment, announced that the nickname of his NBA franchise would be changed from the Bullets to the Wizards. The team sported new blue and bronze uniforms featuring a Wizard handling a basketball.

The Newest Monument: Nestled between the nation's historic monuments and DC's Chinatown is the Wizards new home, MCI Center. Located conveniently in the nations capital, the team opened the US Airways Arena (then named the Capital Centre) 24 years earlier on the same date against Seattle. Featuring 2,500 club seats and 110 luxury suites, MCI Center welcomes area residents and millions of tourists to a unique combination of sports, entertainment 365 days a year with MCI National Sports Gallery, Discovery Channel: Destination DC, Modell's Sporting Goods Team Store, Velocity Grill and Capital Club.
